The Transvani Inquiry.

LONDON, April 30.—The parliamen-tary committee which has been inquiring into the Transvaal raid, resumed its ing into the Transvaal raid, resumed its sessions to-day in the committee room off Westminster hall. The secretary of state for the colonies, Joseph Chamberlain, made a long statement, under oath, declaring in the most explicit manner that helther he nor his colleagues in the colonial office had, until the day before the raid, the slightest suspicious of anything in the nature of an armed invasion of the Transvaal.

The U. B. Bishops.

DAYTON, Ohlo, April 30,-The bish-ops of the United Brethren church are ops of the United Brethren cauren are in session at the pullshing house in this city to-day, arranging the report to the general conference which meets at Toledo, Iowa, on May 13. Those present are Bishops J. M. Wessver, Dayton E. R. Kephart, Ballimore, Mdt. J. W. Hott, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; N. Castle, Elkshart, Ind., and J. S. Mills, Eugene, Ore.

PARIS SPRING HATS FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

At this season of the year when it is warm enough to discard the heavy wraps of winter and use the light and dainty capes, nothing sets off a beautiful costume more than correctness in the color and shape of one's hat. Most women intuitively acquire the knowledge of what colors best suit the complexion and therefore wear hats that always put a finish to their cottumes. The hats shown in our fashion plate for this week require a certain amount of dash and chie to properly set them off.

As Harper's Bazar describes them, one is a French picture-hat of pearl-gray tulle, and has the halo brim covered with the tulle in closely shirred headings having a fluffy effect. Against the front, inside and outside of the brim, are knots of black velvet connected by a strap, the one against the brim holding a black ostrich pompon, that on the crown clasping two gay ostrich tips. The other is a flat-brimmed sailor shaped hat of red straw with black velvet folds, and has a fluffy ruffle of red mousseline draping the crown. At the side is a knotted arrangement of straw and mousseline supporting a black algrette and an ostrich plume. Mousseline choux are underneath the back.

Paul Beglis His Missionary Journey.
As Americans we have special interest in Cyprus, through the successful researches has been fairly transported to America in the magnificent collection which illustrated its ancient art and life, and enriches the Metropolitan Museum, of New York. But none of them precious tile graven with Cypriote char-acters, can tell us of an event more poracters, can tell us of an event more portentous than is here recorded in the New Testament. Cyprus was the hinge on which our current civilization swung toward Europe. The history of mineteen centuries would have to be re-written if Paul had not sailed to Cyprus.
We naturally inquire, What paved the way for an event so important? The church at Antloch, rich in prophets and teachers, seems to wake to a consciousness of its talents and the attendant obligations. The congregation fasts and praya. Out of a prayer-meeting goes the mightlest movement of the age. Yet with what simplicity it is simplicity it is characterized: "They laid their hands on them, and sent them away." This is a book of acts, not of adjectives. The incidents of the evangelization of this "isle of Chittim" away." This is a book of acts, not of adjectives. . The incidents of the evangelization of this "isle of Chittim" are not lacking in interest—the defeat of the sorcerer, conversion of the proconsul, defection of Mark; but the missionary's self enlists us more than his tiny island-field of operations. From the last place in the Antiochian toster he steps to a supremacy he never surrenders. It is here, on the threshold of the Gentile world, he lays aside forever his Hebrew name. Here is a natural divisive point in the parrative. Part second: Acts of the Apostle Paul, might well be introduced here as a subcaption. The vessel chosen to bear the precious name to the Gentiles now faces toward Asia Minor, Greece, Rome, and Europe.

Certain prophets and teachers: Stated and permanent teachers, answering somewhat to the paster of a modern somewhat to the pustor of a modern church. Abbott. . 1. For a hundred years, Luke was supposed to be in error in calling Sersupposed to be in error in calling Sergius for proconsul. Authorities seemed to agree that Cyprus was an imperial province, and hence governed by a legate instead of a proconsul. All this adverse criticism forms the dark background on which the historical accuracy of Luke shines the brighter. It is now discovered that, although originally an imperial province, it was subsequently ceded to the senate, and thenceforth governed by a proconsul. . . 2. All the current and favorite arguments against foreign missions could have been piled with equal force against the expedition of Barnabas and Saul to Asia Minor—"All the simmers in Antioch were not yet converted!" "The money and talent were needed at home." "The heathen were doing well enough." To all sych objections there would be one answer: The mission was undertaken under Divine authority, "they being sent forth by the Holy Ghost." Nineteenth century missions have just as indubitable Divine warrant. And the proof of the pudding is the eating. The results of modern missions justify them as certainly as the result of the Pauline mission was its own vindication. gius for proconsul. Authorities seemed

A WINTER BATH IN WHITE RIVER What Came of Breaking Through the fee in a Wisconsin River in February.

What Came of Breaking Through the lee in a Wisconsin Hiver in February.

From the Chronicle, Chicago, Ills: Five years ago last winter, there was considerable commotion on the banks of the White River, Wisconsin, as a young man named E. N. Halleck, had broken through the ice, and was for some moments lost to view. It was not long, however, before Mr. Halleck came in sight again, and by artistic means was fished from the fluid and restored to society. If the ducking had been all, it would have been well, but nortunately the young gentleman contracted a heavy cold, resulting in chronic rheumatism, complicated with disease of kidney and urinary organs.

"For six months," writes Mr. Halleck, "I was laid up, and not able to do anything, During this time I suffered with pains in the stomach and small of the back, and headache, urination was frequent and painful, my heart's action was increased, and I had schee all over pains in the stomach and small of the back, and headache, urination was frequent and painful, my heart's action was increased, and I had aches all over my body, and was generally used up. Then I was able to go out, but was a confirmed invalid, and for nearly four years I was in that condition, and expected then that I should always be disabled for nothing that I took gave me any relief.

"In December, 1895, I read an advertisement about Pink Pills, and on speaking of it to Mrs. A. E. Derby, she strongly urged that I should take them, as she said she believed they would cure me. I had been under physicians' care for over two years, but as they did me no good I did not ask their advice about taking Pink Pills, and laid in a supply and commenced to take them. In about ten days I began to experience substantial relief, and continued to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People for four months, by which time I was cured. The first benefit I obtained was a less frequent desire to urinate, and lessening of that dreadful pain in the back, which ceased altogether verysoon. My stomach became comfortable, was a res ming of that dreadful pain in the back, which ceased altogether very soon. My stomach became comfortable, and my heart's action normal. After the first break my recovery was rapid, and to-day I flatter myself I am a sound mun, and able to attend to my business letter than I ever could be-fore."
